Witness Breaks Down While Testifying on $260,000 Voucher.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Jan. 26.—Charles M. Schwab has received payment from the government for expenses while serving as director general of the emergency fleet corporation were not proven and not true, the Walsh investigating committee declared today in an authorized statement.

The opinion of the committee was expressed in a statement by Representative Steele, of Pennsylvania, who said it was based on testimony and documentary evidence while he individually felt a great injustice had been done Mr. Schwab.

Steele Speaks for Committee.

After returning here today from New York, the committee discussed informally the testimony relating to a voucher for $260,000 alleged to have been paid Mr. Schwab for expenses and directed Mr. Steele to make a statement.

Charles M. Schwab burst into tears Tuesday after he had, in halting words attempted to convey to the members of the congressional shipping board committee how deeply his feelings had been hurt by the charges relating to the $260,000 Milwaukee voucher for personal expense.

As he sat there, he received an ovation from the crowd which filled the room and with bursts into cheers when Mr. Steele spoke.

"I want to thank you, Mr. Schwab, for the unsurpassable and unselfish services you rendered the government."

Mr. Schwab had been replying to Mr. Foster's questions concerning his conversation with Mr. Morris at the St. Regis hotel after Mr. Schwab had testified before the committee last Friday.

Dealers Charge to Morse.

He said he had met Mr. Morse then for the first time, and had told Mr. Morse there was no truth in the charge about part of the $260,000 voucher being charged to the government.

"I asked Mr. Morse to retract the charge," Mr. Schwab said, who showed signs of extreme nervousness which rapidly increased.

"He refused to do as I asked him," the steel magnate continued, his voice becoming almost inaudible, while his lips worked nervously. He had a piece of paper in his hands and was twisting and tearing it to shreds.

"After 40 years of honorable business experience I felt it so deeply to have these insinuations made that I cannot put it into words." He tried to say more but his voice failed.

His face flushed and his eyes suddenly filled with tears.

Mr. Schwab bowed his head and the tears glistened on his cheeks. He sat there with his hand pressed to his eyes.

Lawrence, a former Denver politician, and said to be a loyal conniver, was said to have had a famous collection of jewels, including the "diamond diamond" valued at $100,000. His possessions were valued at $300,000. According to his wife, he had been killed by the train.

He Visits Wilson; Finds Him Much Better in Health.

Washington, Jan. 26.—"There has been a very marked change" for the better in President Wilson's condition since last summer, former Gov. Cox of Ohio, declared today after a private visit to the president at the White House. The executive, he said, "was rather thin and more robust in every way" than he was last summer when he called after he had been nominated as the democratic presidential candidate.

Describing his visit as merely a "friendly" call, Mr. Cox refused to go into details. "He did say, however, that his projected trip to Europe in June was talk all over and added he would not send 'messages' to Europe or the president."

Mr. Cox disclaimed any purpose in his call to talk politics and jokingly remarked he had gone to the White House to tell the president that he had decided "not to move in."

WIFE DIES OF BURNS RECEIVED WHILE AT PRAYER FOR HUSBAND

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Milwaukee, Jan. 26.—Burns suffered as she prayed before a crucifix for the return to health of her husband, Thomas, proved dead. Mrs. Anna Lee, who died today, a lighted candle fell from the shrine where she prayed yesterday and set fire to her clothing. She was alone. Her body was enveloped in flames before her screams attracted neighbors.

Mr. Lee is patient at a hospital, having undergone a serious operation recently. The woman's wish before lapsing into unconsciousness was the hope that her husband would not know of the accident until his recovery.

WISCONSIN MAN

Marshal of Little Southern Town to Get Reward for His Big Catch.

A five-passenger Studebaker touring car stolen in Janesville two years ago, has been recovered in the little town of Summit, Miss., hundreds of miles from this city, according to information on file at the police station here today.

One man is held in connection with the theft of this machine and three others. His comrade in crime has escaped. Both are from Chippewa Falls.

The machine, a new one, was the property of the Welton Motor Car company, Madison, and was stored temporarily in Strimple's garage here. At 5 o'clock in the morning of May 1, 1919, thieves entered the garage, drained two other machines, drained up four vacuum cup auto tires, and drove off in the Studebaker machine. It was one of the most daring robberies of 1919.

Owner in City.

Police in all nearby cities were notified, without results. A reward of $50 was offered by Max Welton, Madison, who will call at the plant of the Janesville Pure Milk company at 22 North Bluff street after 2 p.m. daily, will be given milk needed in any amount for daily consumption.

All that is asked is that those calling bring with them palis or other receptacles with large openings to make easy filling. Don't bring jugs, they require too much time.

This is what the Janesville Pure Milk Company offers to aid the families of the city who are in straitened circumstances owing to being out of work.

Details as to the recovery of the machine are lacking in the letter received from Marshal Elouent, who when he is not doing police work in the little town of Summit is superintending the collection of taxes and repairing of streets.

Labor and Industry Outlook Growing Better Each Day

BUSINESS BOOM LOOMS IN STATE

Wages Will be Lower, However, When Plants Re-open.

Reports Show.

Digest of press reports throughout Wisconsin shows that under the stimulus of increased demand industries forced to shut down or curtail production during the latter part of 1920 are gradually re-opening. Scores of plants will start up an increased production in Wisconsin late in February, press reports show.

Much concern is being felt by larger plants of the manufacturing type over price of materials. Purchasing agents declare that price conditions have settled so far as to warrant placing of orders for material sufficient for big production. The ups and downs of the market form one reason why production plants are opening up with caution.

Steel Mills Open.

Revival is noticed in the steel industries. This is partially due to the re-opening of the automobile plants in the central west. Cleveland, Gary, Youngstown, Canton, steel centers, are reflecting the flow of steel orders. While some of the unemployed are taking back the supply for jobs far outnumber the supply in each steel center. The steel labor supply in turn affects Superior and its bay neighbor, Duluth.

In most cases a decrease of wages averaging 20 percent has resulted. Lumber trade is increasing to result in a more general demand for labor in northern Wisconsin in the lumber camps and mills.

Charles Ahd.

In Madison better conditions are reported. Plants which laid off several thousand a month ago are now slowly re-employing men. Wages are declared to have been reduced ten percent in most instances.

The demand for jobs is indicated by an ad appearing in a Racine paper of a radically increased number of applications for work through the government and state employment bureau. We know plied for any kind of work for they were in dire financial straits. Donations are asked for in Racine to help the unemployed.

In several Wisconsin cities churches have interested themselves in the campaign to aid in obtaining work for the unemployed.

Wage Reductions.

Building and kindred trades are practically at a standstill, except in Milwaukee. Even in the larger cities the demand for labor is far less than the supply.

Carpenters and masons have refused to return to work in several cities because of radical cuts in wages. The builders throughout the state are generally favoring an open shop policy.

There are ten jobs open in Rock county for farm hands, according to County Agent H. T. Glavin. Encouraged farm hands are advised. Wages to the extent of $30 a month will be paid with board and lodging. Married men are desired as well as single men.

Plants in City Working More Hours

Estimates place the number of persons in this city who were employed and who will still be out of work because of partial shut-down of local factories due to the general business depression at 250. This does not include the Samson Tractor Co. Approximately 75 women are included in the number. In addition there are a large number working only part of the week and others for a less number of hours daily than heretofore, which means a cutting down in the weekly pay-check.

Reducing Labor Employed.

One manufacturer in commenting today upon conditions, although refusing to have his name used, stated that every one of the local plants is endeavoring as much as possible to keep its wheels turning, even where they should be shut down entirely. His own place, he said, should have been closed three months ago, but kept going on a slightly reduced basis, taking a loss in order to provide work as far as possible for their employees.

This manufacturer declared that if the retailer here and elsewhere would begin buying merchandise, the sooner the wheels of industry would turn. Indications are that some of the local factories will open in the near future, although most of them cannot state when the present dull period will be over.

Applications for Labor.

An idea of the local situation was given today at the Chamber of Commerce where it was stated that 75 people had made encl for work since September 1, of which 375 applied since the first of the year. Of these the number placed was 40, only five of the permanent jobs. The average number of people asking for work at the Chamber during the past 12 days has been 10 a day. Prior to that it was four daily. The average time that any of these had been out of work was set by L. O. Holman, manager of the Chamber, at two weeks, while many have been 10 to 14 weeks, which have been out since October and longer, satisfying their needs impartially with an odd job now and then. The Chamber made a canvass of eight local firms and manufacturing companies, but found no vacancies at any of them.

Plans Starting Up.

Announcement was made Monday that the Janesville Baking Mills, which are now closed, will resume partial operations next Monday. They will mean employment for about 12 persons. Last Friday theough Shad Co. increased their operations by starting several more of their machines. This plant is running at about 85 per cent capacity, having laid off about 100 men.

The Rock River Woolen Mill's are operating on a 90 per cent basis on a 50 hour week with 20 less hands. The Janesville Fence & Post Co. has been shut down for two weeks, having laid off their force of 50, and is unable to start when it will be re-opened.

Lewis Mills Increasing.

Fifty women less than usual are being employed at the factory of the H. W. Gossard Co., manufacturers of corsets. This is a 33 per cent decrease. The plant is operating five days a week on a nine hour day. The Lewis Knitting Co. has taken on 12 girls recently and will add more as soon as possible.

Affected by the slowing down of industry, the American Railway Express has had 12 men off for the past three months, and of these men still being unable to find work. This condition will not change. It is said, until shippers begin sending their products out again.

1000 Men Now at Samson Plant

There are no immediate prospects that the Samson will increase its production force materially in either the main tractor assembly plant or in the implement branch. It was stated at the Samson plant this morning.

Approximately 1,000 people are now employed by the Samson at the main plant, the implement branch, and the engine plant.

"Our future is at a standstill," said Mr. Craig, president of the company. "When the spring comes the material must move. We will have to have a rush opening with a big demand for increased labor, but, no one knows or can know just when that opening will come."

Mr. Craig Talks.

"We could go ahead and build if we were confident that material had reached a bad level. The German market is uncertain, and until it is settled, we are uncertain what to do." Action is taken by the manufacturers who are engaged in heavy production. Reduction in employee was in departments not actually concerned with production of tractors.

Making Fifteen Tractors.

The Samson force is now on a 15 a day production schedule of tractors. This program was put into effect today. Before they had been engaged in the production of tractor transmissions, producing about a day. At the machine company, work is more urgent than in the assembly plant.

The Germans are asking for funds to help them out of something they started, so we send a car full of money to the Boche, who two years ago were going to defeat the world, while our soldiers who went to subdue them should now be in want. I agree with County Clark Lee that charity begins at home, only make it stronger while Germany doesn't deserve a cent while our soldiers need. They protected us when things were pretty dark and steady, when we sold planes, would pass them up to help the Germans because our veterans are not as good beggars as the Germans."

Three States Plan Use of Cut Over Lands

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—Twenty-four men from the little mining town of Matewan were here today to answer to the charge of murder in the Mingo county circuit court. They were indicted last July, for the part they are alleged to have taken in a battle with private detectives who had evicted former employees of the Stone Mountain company from the corporation's houses. In the night seven detectives, the master, G. T. Tamm and the two clerks were killed. The defendants include the chief of police of Matewan, a woman, and a union organizer.

For several months before the battle, the organizers of the United Miners Workers of America had been forming local unions among the miners of Mingo county and state officials attended. The congress opened a 2 day session here today. Representatives of commercial, civic and industrial organization of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and state officials attended. The congress was to perfect permanent organization for the furtherance of agricultural and other pursuits.

Speakers today included E. F. Faatz, Mrs. Claire, W. H. Russell, Madison, Wis., C. P. Craig, Duluth, John Swenchart, Dayfield, Wis., W. T. Cox, Minnesota Forester; J. G. D. Mack, Madison, Wis., and E. V. Willard, St. Paul.

NEW DIRECTORY TO BE ISSUED SOON

There is little likelihood that proposed constitutional amendments will be acted on by the people of the state at the April election, according to an announcement from the office of the state auditor.

The last day for notice on the referendum has been set as February 1, and it is not thought that the legislature will dispose of any of the eight proposed amendments by that time.

The constitutional changes necessary to extend state suffrage have been introduced by Senator G. H. Ward of Ashland, and passed by the 1919 legislature. It is expected before February 1 by the present session, it can be voted on in April.

None of the other seven amendments adopted in 1919 have as yet been brought before the legislature for second passage. It is expected that if accepted, they will be held over and will be voted on at a special election or at a general election in 1922.

The first day for filing nomination papers for the April election has been set by the secretary of state as February 24. The state superintendent of public instruction, one justice of the supreme court, circuit court judges, state and county auditors, and all county superintendents of schools will be elected at that time.

C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction, is expected to be opposed for reelection by A. C. Kingsford, superintendent of schools at Baraboo, although there has been no concerted lining up of forces as yet.

Justice A. J. Vinal of the supreme court will run for re-election in April. It is known, although he has not officially announced his candidacy. His probable opponents are not known.

The terms of circuit judges John J. Gregory of Milwaukee, A. E. Werner of Shawano, A. E. Reed of Waupaca, James O'Neill of Neillsville, James Wilson of Park City, and James R. Thompson of Richland Center end in January 1922, with election to be held at that time.

Municipal judges at Mondovi, Superior, Tomahawk, Manitowoc, Balsam Lake, and Marshfield and their terms in June of this year and are elected in April. Judge Karel in the county court at Baraboo will be up for reelection at that time.

Circuit court judges in the second, sixth and seventh districts are to be elected together with all county superintendents of schools.

Male persons only, as provided by statute, will continue to be employed in the Wisconsin legislature.

A move to extend equal rights to women was foiled yesterday by the action of a bill, which, by the terms of the legislature's agreement to withdraw his measure.

Assemblyman F. J. Peterson of Milwaukee introduced a bill on Tuesday which would strike out the provision of the statutes which restrict legislative employment to men. After consultation with Chief Clerk C. E. Shaffer, who has been holding his position since 1907, Assemblyman Peterson decided to withdraw his

All these are reasons for the organization of the central administrative body to care for the needy at once.

In the Gazette on Tuesday it was stated from funds for two or three weeks the amount would be given at 406 South Main street. It should have been 405 North Main street.

Potatoes to First Aid.

Several applications for part of the 50 bushels of potatoes offered by the Young Men's First Aid, which was organized this week to assist the unemployed of Janesville, to large amount of collecting and distributing of clothing and food was done throughout the day. So many have responded, in fact, that it may be impossible to make collections promptly. Precedence will be given to the Young Men's Aid organization for distribution through them.

Clothes in Plenty.

The call for clothes of the Salvation Army made last night through the Gazette, met with enthusiastic support. Adjutant J. H. Bittner was busy all day collecting parcels of clothing, 16 calls being received from various sources.

There have been a number of investigations which have already been made, and several cases have been found of deplorable need, babies without milk, families without any food, all on account of unemployment.

The merchants are offering needed articles and help from every source is being offered to alleviate the suffering. All solicitors will be furnished with cards from the office which should be shown to all persons making contributions. This will enable the office to keep an account of the contributions and amount delivered to those who need it. Contributors and also those in need of assistance may call either 2727 or 203, Bell.

The full moon January 22 occurred at 5 p.m. just three-quarters of an hour before sunset, in the great Rocky Mountain region," explains L. C. Mead, local weather prophet, today. "This is about the best hour for it to occur and brings us our best Indian summer weather in the late autumn.

"This, together with the fact that January is as mild as autumn and the earth's blanket of atmosphere had lost its usual winter coat, the two factors harmonize to make the best Indian summer weather after February 4, with the thermometer registering around 50 above. There should be fine weather until the 21st to 24th, when a storm period is due. Heavy rain and high winds during the 24th will be followed by somewhat colder weather for a few days.

"The river will be open and weather warm enough for boat fishing and camping. Jupiter will be in opposition on March 3rd, and Saturn March 12.

A conjunction with Venus occurs April 22 with the total eclipse of the moon. So it looks like the moon would be the controlling planet for February.

"There is no weather prophet in the land," declares Mr. Mond, "who can predict just the right weather records for what has happened during the latter part of January.

Legion Raps Treasury Chief for Giving False Figures

Adjusted compensation is advocated by the officers of the Richard Ellis Janesville Post of the American Legion at the first meeting held Tuesday night, was approved and the Legion told to go ahead with its plans. Tuesday's meeting adopted a resolution to "start a united association for the ready as clearing house for relief services and community activities of a charitable nature." Those in attendance were Miss Gertrude Cobb, Womans Federated Red Cross; Louise Shea, Robert J. Cunningham, Ralph Kampf, and Frank Sinclair, American Legion; J. A. Steiner, Y. M. C. A.; Stephen Bolles, Gazette, and Rev. J. A. Melrose.

states that these certificates are to be of face value equal to the sum of what adjusted compensation would be in cash, increased 40 per cent. Houston arrived at the gigantic figure of $4,534,000,000 as cost of insurance certificate for the 100,000 persons by computing what they would get with interest thereon for 20 years at 4% percent compounded annually.

In Redefining the Issue.

"Shining through the 10 billion dollar mirage remains the clear fact that on the basis of Mr. Houston's own figures, $1,878,000,000 is the maximum amount the adjusted compensation bill could cost the government under any circumstances. Secretary Houston, however, has decided upon a choice of two kinds of service pay in case of insurance certificates in vocational training in farm and home and in land settlement. The ex-service man may choose one and only one of these options.

Figures Twice As High.

According to Secretary Houston's own figures all ex-service persons could be given adjusted compensation in cash for $1,842,000,000. Since the veterans in exercising any one of the other options will cost the government only about one-half of that amount, no more of these features could cost the government more than $1,878,000,000, that figure being Houston's estimate of what cash compensation would cost plus 10 per cent.

"Houston's estimate that it would cost the government $1,834,000,000 if all ex-service men took insurance certificates is absurd. The bill plainly attempt to muddy the waters so that the principle involved can be enmeshed in a lot of figures that mean nothing."

Indian Summer to Begin Feb. 4, Prophet Declares

Rev. Mr. Hicks, who is alive today to produce any record of a previous year which would exactly fill the bill. He might have to go back 30 years or more and then if it was a general cold winter it would not perfectly fill the bill for this cold winter.

"In there are any almanacs produced of a cold year, then they are doing so without any records to prove their statements. If astronomers will please tell us what year the full moon appeared as it did this year in the latter part of January, it will prove the truth of my statements that no weather prophet has got any records to go by for what has happened this January."

KERCH TO SECURE SUBWAY ESTIMATES

City Engineer C. V. Kerch will seek data on the cost of putting in one or more subways at present being planned.

Kerch announced today following a conference of engineers from the state and railroad companies yesterday relative to building a big concrete viaduct. He has asked the railroad companies for estimates on both projects.

Kerch inclines to favor subways as against the viaduct if the cost will not be unusually large. He points to the viaduct as being rather unsightly.

GASOLINE FALLS

2 CENTS; KEROSENE ALSO COMES DOWN

Gasoline and kerosene hit down the bogogen in Janesville yesterday and today to ten cents, created by the Wadsworth and Standard Oil stations are within two and three cents of averaging before oil soared during the war.

Gasoline has dropped in some instances from 35 and a fraction to 31.8 and 30.6 cents a gallon. The average pre-war price was declared to be 26.6 according to agents today.

The Standard Oil filling station at Main and St. Lawrence avenue, today quoted gasoline at 27 cents and for high test 29 cents. There is a slight variation in the prices for the country district and for the filling stations. Kerosene was quoted at 16.9.

There was a general two cent drop among all companies yesterday.

Kerosene quoted at the Wadsworth main office was 15.8 as compared to 18.3 cents on Sunday. A price of 31.6 was quoted this morning at a filling station for Wadsworth's gasoline.

The drop, it was explained, is directly due to the drop in crude oil prices from $3,500 a barrel to $3,000. Most oil quoted on the stock market dropped 50 cents a barrel.

An oil agent today gave an opinion that gasoline prices might tumble another cent or a fraction within the next fortnight.

which the Allied Army lightened somewhat in 1917 and 1918. Recent excavation work by the army engineers in an old Anderson castle uncovered a peculiarly shaped brick. This brick is the first "corn hill" ever found in what is now called the Argonne Forest district. According to the history now reported, this meat was at least 1007 years old for the Avars were in Germany that many years ago. The curious bricks are declared to be dried elephant meat. It will be remembered that long before the Third army marched into Germany with manufacturers of dairy supplies in the world, was buried here Sunday from the Congregational Church Rev. D. Q. Griffith officiating. The funeral was held under the auspices of the G. A. R. of which the deceased was a member. Mr. Griffith was born in Connecticut and would have been 90 years old February 8. Prof. J. Q. Emery, Albion, a life long friend of the deceased, eulogized his work as a dairyman of Wisconsin.

Instead of canning the elephant meat as did the American ration masters, the animal was simply killed and buried for future use.

Several thousand years from now the future world citizen will be digging up "beau-coup" cans of mysterious canned food in the Argonne Forest district. But the highbrow historians will probably call it another name than "corn hill."

ABBOTT BOOZE CASE PUT OVER; WITNESS FAILS TO APPEAR

Advices from La Crosse today are to the effect that trial of the cases against Thomas F. Abbott, proprietor of the old Barnacle place on South Main street, has been adjourned indefinitely. Failure of the federal government's chief witness to appear in response to a subpoena given as the reason.

Abbott was arrested following a raid by federal men. One William Schroeder was detained by him as a material witness, being alleged that he had been buying alcoholic drink from Abbott's place. He gave up before Judge Landis in person. Charles Pierce is Abbott's attorney.

Making a survey of those in Janesville who would build houses if sufficient funds were provided and they were assured materials had hit bottom will be the task immediately by a special committee appointed by a group of bankers, contractors and business men in a second meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce to endeavor to relieve the housing shortage here. This committee will meet late this afternoon. It consists of Harold Geisse, H. H. Ells, Hugh Gallaher, L. V. Willis, Frank Jackman, Frank Jackman, Frank McNeely, Roger C. Cunningham, and Alderman George Traver.

The step is taken to determine exactly what the situation is. Upon completion, the next step will be to devise a method of financing to raise the money and then to create an administrative body to handle the funds. Sum Up Situation

Janesville's problem was summed up by Harold Geisse, manager of the Janesville Electric Co., who stated that there is a gap between the ready cash that prospective home builders have and the aid that might be forthcoming from the Building & Loan association were it to help.

"Our local people have not enough money to bridge this gap," he concluded, "and that is what is needed is some form of second mortgage company. He enlarged upon a plan suggested by H. H. Ells, that a company be formed to pool second mortgages and issue bonds against the pot. While there is a plan along this line in operation by the state for farmers, it was related, at the meeting that there is not whether it would be applicable to city homes.

"If we can devise a plan," said Mr. Geisse, "why not let us go before the legislature which is now in session and get a statute passed relating to our local conditions? Our energy must be expended in promoting both the Building & Loan and a second mortgage company. We cannot build something out of nothing, so the homestead must first be provided with the necessary money."

Several methods of financing were suggested at the meeting, but adoption of any of them was given into the hands of the special committee. Three points were stressed:

1. That home builders must not build houses more expensive than their incomes and ready cash permit;

2. That thousands of dollars are going out of Janesville annually on mid-east investment schemes that could better be put to building up the community if civic pride might be made greater;

3. Provide means for building homes for the man without money, these to be rented out on a basis that would not let the owner 10 to 12 per cent.

The fact that building materials have hit bottom prices was again stated emphatically by dealers. In addition, Frank Kelly, representing local labor, declared that craftsmen here are willing to continue for a year on the present scale if living conditions do not go higher.

With the exception of Janesville, according to C. J. Hayes, is ready to issue a statement to the public guaranteeing prices up to June 1. The builders, it was stated by Mr. Hayes, will meet with the dealers Friday night to take up this matter.

To illustrate that prices have dropped to their lowest, Leo A. Wood of the Filene's Lumber Co., stated that one of his company's customers, who is considered an authority in the lumber business, has paid a bill of $2,000 for timber that he does not expect to use until June on his belief that prices will not go lower.

DON'T CREATE LAND BARON CLASS WARNS ORFORDVILLE PASTOR

More than 200 people of Plymouth township attended the meeting of the Farm Bureau held in Janesville last night.

In speeches given the farmers urged to remain on their land to prevent the creation of the "land baron class" having owners live in the city with tenants with little or no interest in the real upkeep or protection running their farm property.

"It is an evil time to move into the city," declared Rev. Mr. Grimmett, Orfordville. "The renter or tenant has not the real interest of your farm or the nation's needs."

Milk was held to be the greatest food in the world by Miss Elizabeth Miller, Madison, in her talk to the Plymouth residents. She outlined the various classes of foods, and their value, and then explained that milk and milk products fill all requirements. She also urged the farmers and dairymen to adopt methods of assuring a clean milk supply. Use of more milk and cream as part of the regular diet was declared more necessary in the country than in the city in view of the present economic situation.

The Plymouth club will stage a play on February 22, it was announced. Supper was served.

UNITED FOR RELIEF OF THE NEEDY.

Organization of a central body for the care of the needy, for helpful community service in looking after families and individuals who at times are unfortunate, is another step in accomplishment in Janesville. The fault usually in organized "charity", generally so named and termed, is that it grows so mechanical and is so much a creature of red tape and the care index that it defeats the purpose for which it is organized.

There is need here for a central body where all cases reported, all requests for relief, and others where the persons in need are absent about asking for aid, can be investigated and immediate action follow. Then, too, the budget for all work of this character can be made up at one time and the amount of the funds can be fixed. In that way local demands can always have an assurance of support in a financial way. What we want now is funds to care for the people here at home who need it at once. A canvass of the situation shows that there will be only slight relief in the labor market for the next few weeks at least. And as resources are exhausted and work does not appear for the willing, we must have funds.

The Gazette has opened subscriptions for the present moment pending the completion of the organization for the purpose of local relief. These will be distributed for the benefit of the soldiers out of work and for such other purposes as are pressing.

But WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT IS WORK OF THE MEN WHO APPLIED FOR ASSISTANCE TUESDAY, NOT ONE WANTED CHARITY, BUT A JOB: If you have a job of any kind let it be known.

"No person in Janesville shall be unfed, no child suffer, no family without relief."

THE JAP AND YAP.

When the treaty of Versailles was made and the fate of millions of people was being settled by the five men who dominated that conference, Japan was given a mandate over the islands of the North Pacific ocean, acquiesced in by President Wilson, in spite of the protests of the navy. That included the little island of Yap in the mid-Pacific, used as a way cable station. In command of this station Japan could cut the United States off from communication with the Philippines and hold a most important strategic position. When coupled with the control of the German Islands in the North Pacific, Japan has a powerful military advantage in the Pacific. It seems that President Wilson suggested that America have equal rights in Yap, but never made a contest for the point. Afterward this point of suggestion was forgotten so that Japan has now full control of Yap and has told the council of ambassadors that she intends to retain it.

There is a great deal of news from and about Japan these days. The demand that the Japanese army get out of Siberia is insistent. The effort with which that nation demands that we make our laws of immigration in accord with hers is illuminating. Japan is carrying a chip on the shoulder these days.

Fortunately there are two parties in Japan, one committed to an autocratic military program in cheap imitation of the German plans prior to 1914, and the other for a domestic program that would continue the empire without wailing its steel. In the meantime the United States cannot afford to sit in silence and see Japan secure and retain control of the little Island of Yap. That must be a neutral station at least. Yap provides one of the best examples of the failure of Mr. Wilson as a diplomat and his weakness when sitting with the statesmen of the world.

ENDING THE GRADE CROSSING DANGER.

Action on Tuesday of the city and railroads for the elimination of the crossings at grade on the streets over which the traffic is heavy and danger is ever present and delay is constant, will be welcome news to the residents of the First ward as well as all other citizens of the city. It is certainly a great forward step to even plan a project that while it may take some time to accomplish, nevertheless is now farther advanced than it has ever been before. The result shows what may be done when a committee of citizens with stick-to-it determination gets busy.

Steps have now been taken for the securing of the land necessary under the city plan for the river park and boulevards. By the action of the council property examinations will be made and the titles looked up. This seems to be the time when the citizen who has the future of the city at heart, who wants to see not necessarily a greater but a better Janesville, can do a great public service by donating land to the city for park purposes.

Reappointment by Governor Blaine of Miss Maud Neprud to the state board of control with a salary equal to that of the governor, has been announced. Miss Neprud, who was appointed originally by Gov. Philipp, has served well and faithfully in the office and it is a compliment to her ability that the new administration has re-appointed her.

On With the Pageant

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—That the pageant is being recognized as a permanent institution in community activities is the view held by Hazel Mackaye who is in Washington now to produce a pageant for the National Woman's party.

Miss Mackaye ought to know the status of the pageant if anybody does, for she has been closely interested in this form of drama ever since the time when she had to explain what the word pageant meant before she could talk to any one about it. That wasn't so many years ago—not more than ten or twelve—but since then almost every town in the country must have had a try at depicting local history, from Indians down to proletarians, with costumes, rhythmic dancing, and everything. Some of the exhibitions have sent the audience away thrilled for the first time in their lives over the dramatic past of their home town, and awakened to the realization that they were taking part in the latest of its history. Other pageants, hastily scurried together, or lacking competent direction, have helped to link the word pageant in many minds with crude, uninteresting efforts.

"The pageant is most often an amateur affair," says Miss Mackaye, "but that does not mean that it should bear the earmarks of what we call an amateurish production."

"Any group of citizens in a community can be used somewhere in a pageant. No one who comes to me for a part in one of my productions is ever turned down. But not every applicant can be cast indiscriminately as a knight, peasant, or gnome. That is where some mistakes have been made. Because the pageant is to be a community affair each part is given to the person who asks for it."

The pageant, as Hazel Mackaye sponsors it, is an expression of a great idea. This idea is usually put across by a series of episodes. There may be a thousand years interval between two episodes, or only a short time may elapse. A new set of characters may be used in each scene. These things do not matter at all in pageantry.

What is important is that the scenes are related in sequence and theme. That is, there are no flash-backs in a pageant, as in the movies. If time plays any part in developing the idea, the scenes must march down history in their proper order. And in every case the big thought around which the pageant is written must dominate every part of it.

These differences of pageantry from ordinary stage plays are illustrated in a mission pageant which Miss Mackaye helped to write and produce in four eastern cities a few years ago. This pageant told a story of enlightenment through the missionary movement. There were four scenes, each one practically a one-act play with spoken lines, a dramatic situation, and a well developed climax. In one episode an Indian bride of the Punjab was brought in to be thrown, protesting, on the flaming funeral pyre of her husband. Another scene showed a Hawaiian maiden who had been selected to be tossed over into the crater of a volcano to appease a wrathful goddess. In the other two scenes, one laid in Africa and one in Alaska, similar tragedies were pending, and in all of them the white missionary bringing enlightenment helped to avert the catastrophe. The four episodes, as you can see, had no connection except in theme.

Another of Miss Mackaye's pageants, presented in Washington, depicted the life of Susan E. Anthony, showing scenes in which she advanced the cause of woman suffrage.

Hazel Mackaye's newest pageant, which she is to put on when the women hold their convention here in February, is to be given in connection with the dedication of the statue of Susan Anthony, Lucretia Mott, and Elizabeth Stanton. The story of this statue was given before in the Haskin letter. It is to be placed in the rotunda of the Capitol, and what Miss Mackaye calls a "dramatic service with pageant features" will be held at the unveiling. The ideals of the three women are to be represented by symbolic figures. Banners will be brought and laid by the statue and tribute paid to the memory of the three suffrage pioneers. The memorial service will be presumably the last scene in the suffrage amendment drama.

This dramatic service, as Miss Mackaye describes it, is the essence of pageantry, quite different from the literal presentation of scenes from a person's life or a nation's history. The poetic pageant in which symbolism plays so large a part is the kind of production which has been misused. Sometimes too much stress is placed in the imagination of the audience, and a fire spirit invoking the sun gets taken for a lady chasing a butterfly. Then, again, the symbolist is commonplace. Love, joy, pleasure, and hope are all apt to look about alike, and if the audience misses the introduction, "Here comes Hope" it hasn't much chance of following the story.

A standard for the really imaginative and dramatic pageant was once set by Percy Mackaye, brother of Hazel Mackaye, who has written some of the most spectacular and successful pageants produced in this country. Mr. Mackaye thinks the pageant "should be capable of combining the popular appeal of an Isadora Duncan-Damrosch concert, a Sorolla exhibition, and a Maude Adams-Barrie play."

This is an odd combination of attractions, but if you analyze it you will find that Mr. Mackaye was trying to show what pageantry might be with an original pageant for a basis, and then careful attention given to dancing, suitable music, color effects, stage pictures, and acting.

There have been a number of pageants given which combined this excellence in each side of production, and Miss Mackaye is doubtless right when she says that pageantry at its best is at once as thrilling, entertaining and instructive as the best grade of regular drama. Such pageantry, which she says can be achieved in any community if enough time and energy is expended, has proved its power to attract the people. When St. Louis gave a combination pageant and masque of the history of the city, 7,500 people took part, and 150,000 spectators came early in the afternoon and waited to see the pageant, and then returned that night to see the masque.

In further and more recent proof of the sustained interest in pageantry, Miss Mackaye reminds you that colleges and high schools regularly make use of it in celebrations and dedications services. During the war, all sorts of organizations used pageantry as a means of inspiring patriotism. Men overseas wrote, produced, and acted in a number of remarkable pageants, notably one at Domremy, the birthplace of Jeanne D'Arc.

The pageant has become an accepted part of the safe and sane Fourth of July celebration, and other holiday festivities. It is to figure prominently at the Pilgrim tercentenary celebration at Plymouth.

It would seem that this is a good time for Janesville to extend the trade territory a little farther west.

Again the Gazette rises to remark that what we want in the United States is the stability of the labor market.

It has been demonstrated in the last 24 hours that the biggest thing about Janesville is its heart.

JUST FOLKS

AT HOME

I've trudged life's highway up and down, I've watched the wind and rain march by, I've seen them in the busy town; And there, in them, under country sky, I've talked with toilers in the ranks, And learned, when closed were stores and banks.

We're nearly all alike at night Just find the wise professor when He isn't lost in ancient lore, And not the average man, Friends with his children on the floor; His gait as gravity aside, To share in innocent delight.

Scared of position's pomp and pride, We're nearly all the same at night.

Serving a common cause, we go Unto our separate tasks by day, And rich or poor or great or low, Regardless of their place or way.

Cherish the common dreams of men— Home where love and peace unite, We serve the soft-same end and plan, We're all alike when it is night.

Each find his mate, we go About our separate tasks by day,

And rich or poor or great or low,

Regardless of their place or way.

Cherish the common dreams of men—

ENTRICO CARUSO.

The music world is much concerned over recent accidents and illness which have jeopardized the golden voice of Enrico Caruso. The famous singer is credited with annual salaries of $300,000, as his honoraria of $2,500 a performance count to a considerable sum in the course of a year. This does not include his royalties from phonograph records and other sources. His income tax is approximately $10,000.

The noted tenor began his career at the age of 11 as a choir boy in his native city of Naples, where his voice attracted the attention of the distinguished teacher of singing, Guglielmo Vincino, with whom he studied for three years. On his debut in the opera theater in Naples in 1904, Signor Caruso became one of the foremost figures of the operatic world. In his tour of France, Russia and Italy he was hailed as one of the greatest tenors which his native land had ever produced.

On his arrival in this country in 1903 Signor Caruso made a triumphant debut at the Metropolitan opera house, and is one of the idols of a music loving public.

The operatic stage has many stars who receive salaries of from $25,000 to $50,000 a year each, but Caruso is at the front of his profession, judged by the standard of emoluments as well as by that of art.

CHAPTER LIV
A TANGLED WEB

We heard some one unlock the door of the carriage house under us. Like two criminals we slipped over to the door, opened it, glad that the long, dark shadows made no noise—went out under the bay, and fastened the door behind us.

Crawling along the dusty passage-way, Violet choked up with the heat and lack of air and sneezed violently. She covered her face with her hand, and looked at me, pale and frightened, wholly exhausted as we emerged, all shaven and dressed with bayonet fixed on our exploration.

"How long do you suppose he's had that?" she asked.

I shook my head. I wanted to cry suddenly, it was all so very pathetic, and had a natural inclination towards melancholy. I was never happier than when he had tools in his hands. I believe he loved to have the farm machines break down so he could repair them. To be sure, he occasionally experimented trying to improve them, and sometimes the results were disastrous.

"Do you suppose he knows about it—machinery and things like that?" the girl asked. "Of course he always worked on an invention." His tools constructed some sort of thing for his hands. It was strange and rather bands. It was so arranged that by pulling out a cord wrapped around a large spool, he could make the whole combination run—it produced nothing but motion and useless motion at that, the spools whirled around and knots of string danced in the air, and the whole thing was very kitchen music to look at each other.

I nodded. James had saved an empty spool for months—in fact, for a couple of years. Out of them he constructed some sort of thing for his hands. It was strange and rather bands. It was so arranged that by pulling out a cord wrapped around a large spool, he could make the whole combination run—it produced nothing but motion and useless motion at that, the spools whirled around and knots of string danced in the air, and the whole thing was very kitchen music to look at each other.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 22 years old and in love with a man the same age. Several months ago I felt as if I were tired of him and quit him. He called me on the phone to see what was the matter, but I would not talk to him.

He told several girls friends of mine that his life was miserable without me and he wanted to come back. Now I have realized how much I did love him. I want him back, but I don't want him to know it. I am afraid he would care less for me if I let him know.

Please advise me what to do.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think it is all right for a high school girl to go to a movie with a boy of the same age?

Who should go in the theater first, the boy or the girl?

In going on and off a street car, who should go first? R. W.

It would be all right to go to a matinee.

The girl should be allowed to go first as the usher finds the girl.

The girl gets into the street car first, and the boy gets out first in order to assist the girl to alight.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a friend whom I think a lot of. He seems to like me and wants me to marry him. The only objection I can find is he has had a growth removed from his neck, but it seems to be growing back. Some people say it is cancer. What would you advise me to do? A FRIEND.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Answered by

VIRGINIA PAGE.

"Dear Miss Page: Where can a person get a matrimonial paper or in touch with a matrimonial paper? Please answer in Wednesday's paper." A Reader.

First, once again I must remind you that I cannot answer inquiries in the column on any given day, nor in less than from two to three weeks' time. I'm sorry, but it can't be helped unless your correspondents send a stamped and self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. And this does not mean a loose stamp in their letter, but an envelope with a stamp stuck on the corner and your name and street number and the name of your city written out. Please!

Now about the matrimonial paper and clubs, I don't know where you can get such a paper. Readers are I wouldn't like to tell them if I did. Because I don't like them. I do understand your longing for friends and love and a husband (or is it a wife that's wanted?) and a home, and I truly wish I could help you to find your happiness. But I don't think that a matrimonial paper is the way.

Occasionally, very occasionally, perhaps an acquaintance made in that way turns out well, but usually it is a far from safe. One on the other is almost invariably not placing square and soon disappointment results, if nothing worse. Friendship, like charity, should begin at home, I think and you may be sure there are just as fine people in your own community as you will find through any matrimonial paper, no matter where you live.

Just open your eyes, Reader, look about you, get associated through your work, your church, your club, or your neighbors, with those nearby who are leading and wanting friends as much as you, and you will almost certainly find happiness, and security as well.

Last On, First Off
"Dear Miss Page: In alighting from a bus or trolley is it proper for the gentleman to walk out in front of the lady, leaving her to follow in order to assist her out?"—A Constant Reader.

Yes, that's the proper way.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in those columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, so if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions. —The Editor.

With plenty of love for the wife and plenty of well prepared food for the husband there would be fewer difficulties.

Georgette and Hair Braids Make Charming Hats for Southern Wear

This trio of pretty hats shows what is going to be popular for dress wear in the south now and what may be good several months hence in the north. Georgette, chiffon and light colored haircloth are favored materials with ribbon embroidery and feathers forming attractive trimmings.

At the upper left is a pretty youthful sailor shape made of white horsehair. It features a flounce of georgette braid about the brim and a wide piece of white taffeta ribbon encircles the crown, forming a large bow at the side. It is a pretty model for wear with light afternoon frocks and trifly dance frocks.

Orchid colored georgette forms the smart hat at the right, which may be worn at the same functions as the one just described. The georgette hat has a short little roll at the edge of the brim and is trimmed with four large uncured ostrich plumes which is draped gracefully over the crown and brim.

Another youthful model made of georgette is shown at the middle to lower right during the southern season. It is the hat in the center. It is of gray georgette crepe and is embroidered in coral colored silk. Gray is going to be one of the most popular new colors of the coming season. Sweaters, suits, frocks and sport skirts are all being developed in different shades of gray, and so such a smart little gray hat will be very practical, for it will go with anything.

Sweaters, suits, frocks and sport skirts are all being developed in different shades of gray, and so such a smart little gray hat will be very practical, for it will go with anything.

But it wasn't just because he was young that Aunt Jane refused. I found out afterward. It was because he was any kind of a man paying me attention. I found that out through Mr. Claude Livingstone. Mr. Livingstone brings out his groceries. He's a real young gentleman—tall, black mustache, and lovely dark eyes. He goes to our church, and he asked me to go to the Sunday School picnic with him. I was so pleased. And I supposed, of course, Aunt Jane would let me go with him. He's no silly boy! Besides, I knew him real well, and liked him. I used to talk to him quite a lot when he brought the groceries.

But did Aunt Jane let me go? She did not. Why, she seemed almost more shocked than she had been over Mr. Smith and Fred Small and the others.

"Starry, child!" she exclaimed. "Where in the world do you pick up these people?" And she brought out that "these people" so disagreeably. Why, you'd think Mr. Livingstone was a foreign Japanese, or something.

I told her then quietly, and with dignity, and with no temper (she was foreign Japanese), that Mr. Livingstone was just a very nice gentleman, and that I had not picked him up. He came to our own door almost every day.

"My own door!" exclaimed Aunt Jane. "She looked absolutely frightened. "You mean to tell me that that creature has been coming here to see you, and I not know it?"

I told her then—again quietly and with dignity, and without temper (showing)—that he had been coming, not to see me, but in the natural pursuance of his profession of delivery. And I said that he was not

"How much did it cost you in the first place?" asked an acquaintance.

"Swapped a dog for it and got a dollar to boot nine years ago. I'll betcha, by gosh, that they ever stole the jewels out of it. That's what I'll betcha."

Rose, the surly domestic, can give you facts of history—international, dramatic, scandalous—right off the bat without a moment's hesitation.

"How do you manage to remember all these things, Rose?" inquired her employer the other day.

Then Rose came back with the infallible rule for memory training.

"I tell ye, niver a lie," she said. "All my life never a lie I've told. And when you don't have to be tastin' yer memory to be rememberin' what ye told this one or that one on how ye explained this or that or ye don't ever work and it lasts ye, good as new, forever."

The lovers were returning from a sentimental Saturday afternoon at the seaside, and they had been compelled to sit in the same compartment as a rowdier crowd of costermongers. They passed through a tunnel.

"Do you know, darling?" he whistled as they emerged, "if I had realized that tunnel was so long I should have kissed her!"

"Great Scott!" she gasped. "And didn't you?"

Therefore, to cut down food or go on a starvation diet calls for a degree of selective knowledge that very few men possess. The best plan is to eat anything you like, and as much of a variety as possible. Follow meals with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and you supply the stomach with an alkaline effect which enables digestion to go on without gaslessness, rumblings, water-brash, billiousness, coated tongue, abnormal thirst and the feeling of drowsiness after eating. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and you will realize why so many physicians have recommended them for indigestion and dyspepsia.

Lots of men wouldn't know what to do with their money if they should ever get out of debt.

THE "PRINCE"

Mr. Jackson won't Hear to a Throne, But He Wins a "Prince."

Blows were exchanged between Slim Perkins and Sam Stevens at an extremely lively rate for a period of four minutes before any great damage was done to either of them.

One day she saw him enter a shop, and she decided that was her chance to speak to him. Pulling Little Washington Irving after her, she went up to the President and said, "Please, your honor, here's a bairn who was named after you." Much to the nurse's satisfaction, the kind Virginian placed his hand on the youngster's head and gave him his blessing.

The blessing was quite effective, for Washington Irving wrote the biography of President Washington.

On how good those Marie things did feel to Mary's hot tired flesh and bones, and how I'd dance and sing around the room in those light little slippers! Then Susie sang the dinner-bell and went upstairs and played every lively thing she could think of. I went up and I sang there, too.

Susie started, of course, and said, "My, how fine we are today!" But I didn't mind Susie.

After dinner I went out into the hall and I sang; I sang all over the house. And I ran upstairs and I ran down; and I jumped all the last three steps, even if it was so warm. Then I went into the parlors and played every lively thing I could think of. I went up and I sang there, too.

ARMY HARD-BOILED IN DEALING JUSTICE

Members of Congress Indignant Over Treatment Given by Officers.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Members of congress who have lately visited the war department in behalf of soldier constituents who have been disciplined for trivial offense have gone back to Capitol Hill incensed and indignant over what they term "hard-boiled" treatment by the officers of the regular.

A smoldering controversy has just come to the surface which either will be cured in legislation pending before congress or there will be a sweeping investigation to apprise the public of the severity of the punishment being meted out to men who served with distinction in the war, the only to be given an honorable discharge for a pair of shoes.

4,000 Are Rehabilitated

Out of 16,000 cases, it developed that the efforts of a reform element inside the regular army have resulted in the restoration of more than 4,000 to the status of honorable discharge. Just how many more of the remaining 12,000 are deserving of letup is hard to conjecture, though both sides in the controversy say the percentage will probably be small, it is to get justice for that small percentage which is agitating members of congress who are trying to wade through masses of red tape to get at the bottom of the army system.

Took Shoes for Dance.

It sounds incredible but the stigma of dishonorable discharge must be carried through life by one man who fought in France and whose offense on his return to the United States consists of taking a pair of shoes from a comrade. It develops that the soldier wanted to go to a dance and asked the sergeant of his company if he could borrow a pair of shoes. The request was granted. A week later when the same soldier wanted to go to a dance again, the sergeant wasn't in the barracks and naturally thinking there would be no objection the private borrowed the shoes. When the sergeant came home, he reported that his shoes were missing. When the private who borrowed them came back from the dance he told the sergeant that he had lost the shoes. There isn't a thing in the evidence to prove that the soldier intended permanently to deprive the sergeant of the pair of shoes nor that he was a confirmed thief. His record was good. Nevertheless he was given six months in the barracks as a punishment. In civilian life, even if he were convicted of petty larceny, he might be given 10 or 30 days. In this instance no one was confined for six months, but his record in the world war was stained by a dishonorable discharge from the American army.

Hard to Get Action.

Instances of this kind can be found in the records and while a number of army officers with kind hearts are distressed over the pitiful pleadings of friends and relatives for justice, they can't say a word to anybody but their superior officers. Under a rule of the war department, no officer can comment on any case of this kind to a member of congress unless the suggestion goes through military channels. That often means going through the same officers who are defending the practice complained of.

The whole trouble seems to lie in one of those mischievous riders that are mysteriously attached to appropriation bills when nobody is looking.

Voice of the People

Editor Gazette:

Note that some of our ex-soldiers have finally awakened. I am one who has seen the conditions in Germany and know what I am writing about, having fought through mud and fire and being starved for days that our country could still be the free independent country that it always has been. I was lucky enough to exist until the day of the Armistice and after firing had nobody who done or said anything to help me except the landlord who suggests a raise in the rent this spring but give me a job and you won't hear a grumble out of me. I was born and raised in this country as were my great grandfather and grandmother on both sides of the family. This under served in the U.S.A. We also, and I made four fronts in France and the Army of Occupation. Let me say this much of Germany. I feel pretty certain that there is no lack of food in Germany but I do believe that there is considerable amount of slackness in the management of that country to make outsiders believe that Germany is hard hit and I feel certain that it is all camouflage.

If you can help me and others here in America who really need help, then you will be doing your part to secure it. I am sure that you will lack no appreciation on our part. I really don't want to see no one but ex-soldiers get help as there are others less fortunate who were just as loyal and need it.

Ex-Soldier, A. E. D.

EARL R. SMITH,

432 HICKORY STREET.

ALBERT R. SMITH,

Veteran of Fifth Division.

Editor Gazette:

Read your "Voice of the People" last night and will say that it certainly is a good idea and believe me if for one can appreciate what you are trying to do for the ex-soldier. Enough has been said of his deeds.

It so happens that in the act of 1913 a rider was tucked in dealing that all matters relating to prisoners in disciplinary barracks should be transferred from the adjutant general to the quartermaster general. The provision in law was ignored from 1913 until Oct. 1920, when it was suddenly applied. Refuses to Look up Facts.

And most of the trouble has developed since last October because the adjutant general's office simply ignored upon a statement of facts without referring to the rider of the act or the executive circumstances. The adjutant general's office does its duty as soon as it can and if a man's paper shows that he was convicted of thievery, it doesn't make a whole lot of difference whether a soldier stole a pack of playing cards or a suit of underwear or embezzled funds. The dishonorable discharge has been given just the same.

Essentially the judge advocate general's office is the place where matters of law and evidence and justice are concentrated. A clemency board in the judge advocate general's office constantly reviews cases and recommends changes. The adjutant general's office is a huge clerical organization where no attempt is made to inquire into questions of penology.

Rider Should Be Ignored.

If congress will put the power to award dishonorable discharges back into the hands of the lawyers of the army by repealing the rider that was put into the 1913 act, much of the trouble will be eliminated but members of congress are wondering what they can do to restore some of their constituents to an honorable discharge whose cases already have been settled. Officers, Injuries, Military Attacks,

Tanks Lose at Beloit-Tendler-Jackson Bout Tonight

LOCALS RECEIVE SEVERE BEATING BY INFANTRY CO.

Janesville's company of tank corps soldiers was nowhere in the running against Beloit at the Gateway city Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night when they lost to the 21st Separate company composed of former stars of the various factories of that city, 45 to 5. The local lads felt the absence of "Doc" Richards who was to have held down the position at center.

The game was the first of the sectional national guard tournament. Janesville, Beloit, Whitewater, Jefferson and two Madison companies are in a battle for elimination to decide which will go to the state tournament at Madison. Beloit plays Whitewater Friday.

GOWDY AND RUDOLPH FREED BY BOSTON

Boston, Jan. 26.—The passing from these parts of the last of the Boston Braves who in 1914 made a sensational rush from last place to first in the National league race and topped their team with a world's championship.

The trade of "Babe" Marvine to Pittsburgh marked the most recent elimination of baseball's wonder man of six seasons ago. The miracle man, George T. Stallings, has left the club to become part owner and manager of the Rochester Internationals. Little Dick Rudolph, one of three pitchers who contributed to the team's success, has been given the right to negotiate for another team, probably to the Detroit Tigers. And now Hammering Hank Gowdy is ready to sing his sun song.

Gowdy, who came here today, said he had heard that he too, was to be traded. Manager Mitchell admitted there was another trade in the air to bolster up the Braves, but he withheld details.

ELKS' PIN TOURNEY SET FOR GREEN BAY

Green Bay.—Wisconsin Elks will stage their annual bowling tournament in Green Bay from February 10 to March 21, and indications are that a new record for entries will be established, according to Secretary Bob.

Several lodges have written for Saturday and Sunday dates, and the early reservations point to a successful tournament. Among the cities which have promised an entrant ranging from ten to 45-man teams are Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Kenosha, Racine, Madison, Manitowoc, Fond du Lac, Menasha, Appleton, Wausau, and Rhinelander. Committees are busy in Green Bay lining up entries and assurances are given by the committees that more than 100 teams will be secured in the tournament city.

MERKLE'S "BONER" RECALLED BY DEAL

Chicago, Jan. 26.—The transfer of Merkle from the Cubs, in line with Manager Evers' policy of weeding out several of the veterans, recalls the famous play involving Merkle and Evers years ago in the closing days of a pennant struggle which had settled down to a race between the Giants and Cubs. Merkle was playing third base for the Giants, and Evers, in a last bid to the outfield, apparently good for at least two bases, and scoring the player on second. Merkle, then on first, ran for the clubhouse, but Johnny Evers, playing second for the Cubs, called the attention of the umpires to Merkle's failure to touch second after crossing first-base, and Merkle was ruled as out. The next day, however, when Merkle ruled the game a tie, caused it to be played over and the Cubs won the second game, the pennant and the World's Series following.

MARQUETTE SQUAD ON WESTERN TRIP

Milwaukee, Jan. 26.—Coach Murphy of Marquette University basketball squad will start on another trip Wednesday night with three hard games scheduled. The first comes Thursday night when the Hilltoppers meet Columbia College of Dubuque, Ia., on their own floor. Then Friday night the Hilltoppers will meet up with their old rivals, St. Thomas, at St. Paul.

BASEBALL TIPS

Saint Paul, S. D.—Representatives of some Dakota baseball clubs met yesterday afternoon and granted franchises to Watertown and Huron, making a total of seven clubs assured for this season's circuit. One vacancy exists. Other clubs in the league are Aberdeen, Sioux Falls, Mitchell, Redfield, and Madison.

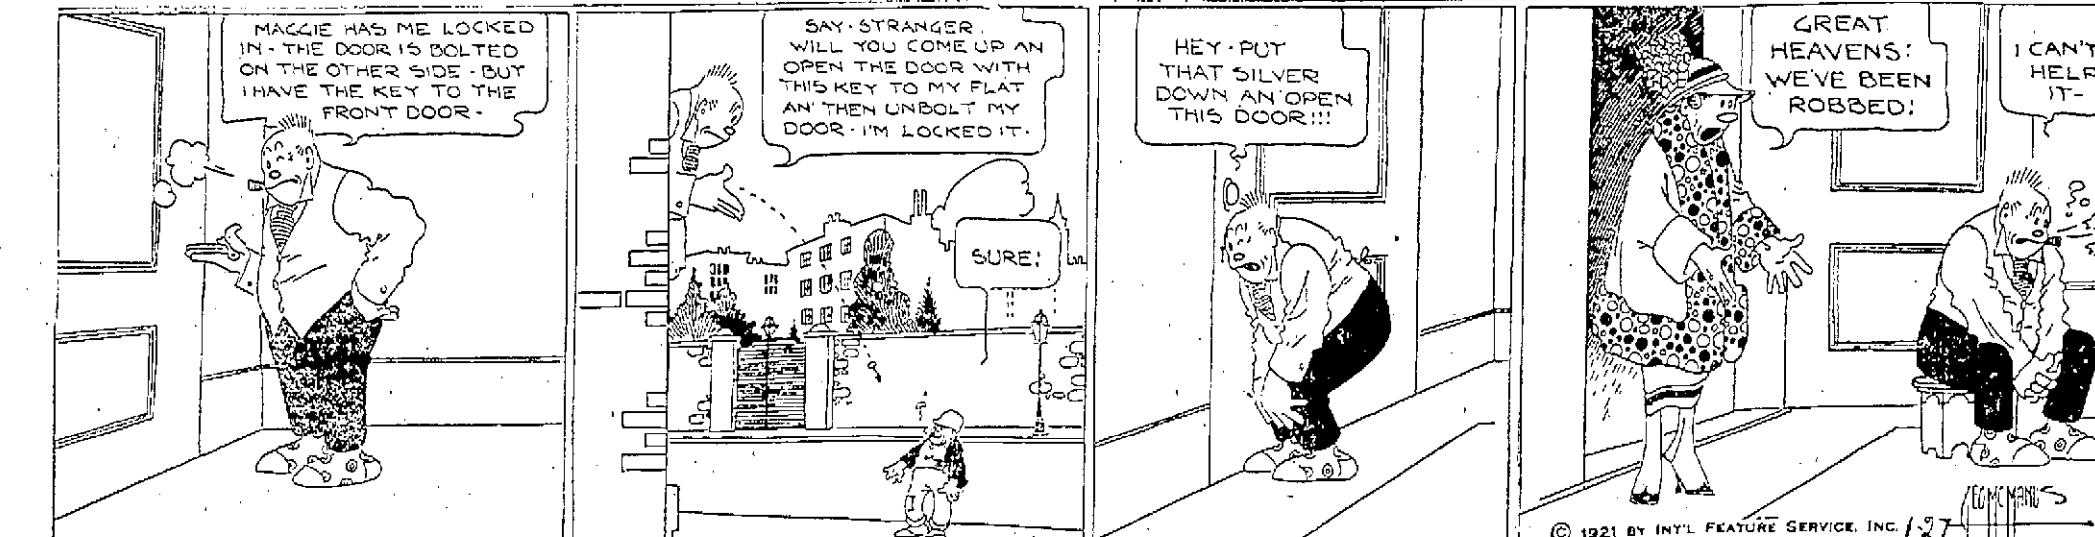

New York.—Frank Frisch, third baseman of the New York Giants, returned his signed 1921 contract to the club management yesterday. He was given an increase in salary, the amount of which was not stated.

Chicago.—Reports that Fred Merkle, for the past few years a member of the Chicago National league team, had been signed by George Stallings to play first base for the Rochester Internationals, were received here yesterday. President Merkle had no information on the case, but had written Merkle, offering him an outright release or transfer to some minor league team.

Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia National league club on Tuesday announced it had traded Walter Trassner, catcher, who has been with the club several years, for Frank Brugge, catcher of the Buffalo International league team.

Gulfport, Miss.—The Milwaukee team of the American association will begin spring training at Gulfport March 9, according to information received yesterday. The advance guard of the team will reach here about Feb. 15.

WINNER TO HAVE CHANCE AT CROWN OF CHAMP BENNY

Lew Tendler, leading contender for the lightweight championship and Willie Jackson, regarded as Henry Leonard's next door neighbor, from a challenger's standpoint, are both prepared to take their respective claims tonight for a championship bout with Leonard.

Tendler and Jackson are to box ten rounds for a purse exceeding $20,000. Jackson has been guaranteed $16,000 and Tendler will receive 35 per cent of the gross receipts.

The Tendler-Jackson bout is one of the greatest lightweight match of the month, arranged at the present time. The elimination of Richie Mitchell by Leonard leaves only two men in Benny's path to undisputed glory and the two are Tendler and Jackson. This bout has been hanging fire in Milwaukee for months, injuries to Jackson resulting in the postpone- ment of the attraction on three different occasions.

Leonard to Be Present.

One of the largest crowds that ever attended a boxing show in Milwaukee is expected to turn out for the Tendler-Jackson extravaganza.

The Daily Journal will all over the country and several delegations from other cities are expected to be present at the ringside.

Promoter Mulkern has received word from champion Leonard to the effect that the titleholder promises to be among those at the ringside when the big bout starts.

Mr. Hagen has already stated that he will stand behind the squad to the extent of half the expenses for next year, which is estimated will be about $250. The balance of the money, it is expected, will be raised from local merchants and other business men through the Chamber of Commerce.

It will be the duty of the committee to select the six men that will represent this city. At a meeting to be held in the near future they will go over the plans and decide the best method to be followed.

JEFFERSON HIGH DEFEATS WATERTOWN

Jefferson.—The local high school basketball team outplayed Watertown Gosslings 16-4. Hibbert starred with five baskets and Langer with two. Blumenstein, Klessinger and Friend also featured.

Coach Dabie Offered $8,500 to Train Oregon

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 26.—Gilmore Dabie, football coach at Cornell, has been offered $8,500 to coach football at the University of Oregon, according to an announcement today.

So evenly matched are the teams that a large crowd is expected to view one of the hottest spectacles in Janesville sporting circles.

Hager and Dick, both in top form, will keep the Evansville guards on the run. Funk, all Wisconsin high school forward last year, will keep Graf and Cullen, the Star players, pretty busy.

The preliminary game will be played between Rock Prairie and Orfordville at 7:30. The big game comes at 8:30.

MONEY NO OBJECT IN WILLARD'S DEF

New York, Jan. 26.—Teaming with smiles that radiated the confidence expressed in his ability to "come back," Jess Willard, one-time heavyweight champion, began today, for the first time, fortifying quarters for his prospective match here with Jack Dempsey on March 17.

The tall Kansan, who now tips the scales at 240 arrived last night and had a lengthy conference with Tex Rickard, the promoter. He said he had been in light training for weeks.

Radiates Confidence

Willard declared his defeat at the hands of Dempsey was an accident. "I satisfied my desire to fight at Toledo," he said. "You know setbacks come in the life of every man. For instance you can't name a ball player who plays year in and year out without missing a fly ball now and then. I missed a high fly at Toledo."

Willard indulged in a guffaw that shook his sides when he was asked if he had seen the fight at Durango in order to replenish his financial store.

"I wish I did have less," he said. "maybe I wouldn't be bothered so much with income taxes. I don't care about the purse; all I want is a chance to show the public that I am a better fighter than Dempsey."

HERZOG RELEASED BY CHICAGO CUBS

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Charles "Buck" Herzog, veteran National League player who has been with the Chicago club for two seasons has been given his unconditional release. Herzog's name was mentioned several times in connection with the investigation of dishonest ball players.

President Hoyt of the National league after making an investigation declared there was nothing in the player's conduct which implicated him in any wrongdoing.

In a letter sent to the player today, President Veeck, of the Cubs, repeated the vindication of Herzog by the league president. Herzog's release is in line with the policy adopted by Manager John Evers to reconstruct the club with young men.

MOOSE ASK WOMEN TO WRESTLING CARD

Evansville, Jan. 26.—Evansville wrestling fans are looking forward to the match between Walter Evans, Van Pelt, and Frank Burns, Iowa, which will be held in Marquette's opera house Thursday evening.

Before the match between Evans and Burns, Emil Krupp of Brooklyn and Eli Zwicker, Evansville, will wrestle.

The Moose announce that women will be welcome to the entertainment.

SENIOR "Y" CLASS FORMS BASKET LEAGUE

The senior class of the "Y" has formed a basketball league of four teams with the first game starting Friday night at 7:30. The teams are Beloit's Bears, Hall's Powers, Pups and Spuds.

You can't convince us that a novel is interesting unless the hero and heroine get married in the last chapter and live happily ever after.

CHICAGO SPORTS DOM NEEDS

An auditorium for indoor sports with a seating capacity of not less than 1,000 especially suited to basketball; an armory for the cavalry and tank corps of the local national guard will do the trick.

A first class baseball field.

An outdoor cedar path for track events.

Better swimming benches.

Physical training in the public schools.

Public Schools Athletic League.

Swimming School, Athletic League.

Cricket and wider participation by high school in all branches of athletics.

All of these needs fulfilled will make Janesville a community of "pessimists."

GOPHER STUDENTS WANT INVESTIGATION OF SCHOOL'S SPORTS

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—A committee to investigate athletics at the University of Minnesota is urged in an article published in the Minneapolis Daily student organ.

The article states that although at the close of the football season last fall prospects for next year's eleven seemed unusually good, four veterans already have left the institution and indications are that more will be lost before next September.

"The present rate that Minnesota is losing its football men cannot continue," said the Daily.

The article states that it stands in the side of successful athletics. Some members of teams feel they have been discriminated against in the class room. Others feel their efforts have not been appreciated by the faculty, athletic association or student body.

"No side has anything to lose by an investigation. Minnesota has much to gain."

EDGERTON SECONDS DEFEATED LAKE MILLS

400 GATHER FOR SCOTCH FESTIVITIES

With their full Scotch attire, like dancing to the tunes of the Heather and Highland, Lucy Craft and Virginia Elakay, both of this city, were the stars of the Bobby Burns anniversary celebration held by the Rock County Caledonian Society in the armory last night. More than 400 people were present for the interesting program and for the dancing which followed.

It was a combination program of the old and new in dancing. The fox trot, with its youthful admirers, rivaled with the Scotch dances and the quadrille. The young intent of stepping off the fast time of the fox trot and one-step stood by and watched older couples dance to a much faster air of the Scotch jigs with their varied complication of steps.

The program opened with a Scotch medley by Hatch's orchestra, which furnished the music for the evening. Jessie Farle, president of the Caledonian society, gave the address of welcome. Genevieve Taylor Parker sang several Scotch songs. S. J. Cassell, Chicago, gave a short Scotch entertainment. David G. Reese sang a baritone solo, to be followed by Stanley Shanks, of Merrimac, who pleased the audience with Harry Lauder songs. "Wee, Dooh and Doris" was sung by John E. Mitchell.

PUSH WISCONSIN TO TOP IN SCHOOLS, IS PLEA OF TEACHERS

A campaign for better schools in Rock county was urged during a recent meeting held by the Fulton community club in hopes that all agencies and organization in the county would realize the importance of schools and concentrate on methods to obtain desired improvements.

The school was considered during the last meeting of the Fulton club and was discussed by three teachers, Miss Emma Berg, Miss Stella Attebery and Mrs. Anna Marie Heggen.

Qualified schools for the country districts were favored by Miss Heggen. It was stated that for 20 years Wisconsin ranked as leaders in the United States in then relative to 20th position. Public opinion in Rock county, it was declared, should demand a solution to the problem.

Parents Should Aid.

Miss Berg speaking on the "Parents and Teachers" held that the lack of interest shown by the parents and the teachers of the district is one obstacle in arousing public interest in school welfare.

"Teachers are human and need the sympathy, interest and co-operation of the parents," declared Miss Berg. "Local clubs also prevent teachers from getting the same low wages paid to the country school teachers with the poor equipment, the disadvantages of the one room school as compared to the city teacher with better equipment.

Advantages of the consolidated school were given by Miss Heggen. This was declared to be the practical solution of the country school problem.

"In a one room school of the country with eight grades, the teacher must have all the ability of the United States steel trust president," declared Miss Attebery, and do it on rates which scarcely be sufficient to cover his monthly salary bill."

Low wages to teachers, poorly equipped schools, lack of proper supervision of schools, a too complicated and ill-adapted curriculum were mentioned as causes for Wisconsin schools being rated so low. It was unanimously agreed that interest should be aroused for improvements.

GLTS DIVORCE.

Divorce was granted to Mrs. Venetta Putchard, of Beloit, from her husband James Pritchard by Judge George Grimm on Monday afternoon on the grounds of desertion. The wife was the only witness, the action not being contested.
